

Photovoltaic panel installation scam does not pay wages

Overview

Beware of misleading social media ads and sales pitches promising "free" solar, guaranteed savings, or special government payouts—these are major red flags. Compare quotes from multiple installers and check their reviews, certifications, and track records before signing any. Solar panel fraud has become a growing concern in the United States, leaving many homeowners stuck with hidden fees, inflated energy bills, and contracts they never fully understood. As more families consider solar energy improvements, dishonest companies exploit the fine print in solar panel. While you are browsing solar power companies, one of them may offer to install a solar panel or solar roof in your home for a small cost or even for free. It's an intentionally misleading claim. The criminals are leaving unsuspecting homeowners with massive debt; many victims have reported losing tens of thousands of dollars.
